

Dick Helgeland

“I feel so blessed to have the privilege to share products that are life-changing.”

Due to the growing credibility of network marketing, the industry is attracting a higher level of skilled entrepreneurs. An example of this trend is Dick Helgeland of Seattle, Washington. In Dick's six-year network marketing career, he has established himself as a leader in the industry.

Dick brings to this industry a very distinguished career in several fields. After graduating from the University of Washington, he became a Lieutenant Commander in Naval Intelligence, and later was accepted into a very elite interpol organization. After leaving the intelligence industry, he quickly moved up the corporate ladder of success. Dick was employed in the legal and contractual departments of corporations, such as Boeing, Sundstrand, and Honeywell.

During Dick's lifetime, he has also been involved in the educational field, teaching at several vocational schools, the University of Washington and UCLA. He served on the Board of Directors of the National Contract Management Association and on the University of Washington's Board of Advisors. Recently, Dick was at the home of Vice President, Al Gore, and attended briefings by the Secretary of Defense, Secretary of Labor, and the Director of the FCC.

According to Dick, "Entering the networking marketing industry has been one of the most fulfilling experiences of my professional career. I have met so many wonderful people; and it is so nice to be rewarded for helping other people feel better and improve their lives. This past year has been especially rewarding. I have had the tremendous privilege of being mentored by one of network marketing's gurus, Mike Akins, who is the president of Professional Networkers. I have learned more about marketing, communication, and relationships in the past year than in all my years in corporate America."

Dick enthusiastically shares, "At an age that many people are slowing down and seem to be low on energy, my wife, Marlys, and I are growing in excitement. Thanks, in part, to network marketing, we are anticipating more activity and fulfillment than ever before. Network marketing has been a wonderful avenue to receive information on health, as well as an avenue to develop a nice residual income, allowing us to enjoy a fulfilling lifestyle. We love to share this opportunity with others because we know the impact network marketing can have on a family."

"The past year has been an especially enriching experience since I joined 4Life™ Research. 4Life™ is a state-of-the-art manufacturing and network marketing company. With a full-time research and product development department, 4Life™ has introduced breakthrough, cutting edge products that are exclusive and highly effective. I feel so blessed to have the privilege to share products that are life-changing. 4Life's™ flagship product, Transfer Factor Plus™, has more science behind it than any other product that I have ever worked with. The proof of its effectiveness is found in the hundreds of miraculous testimonies flooding their office," Dick declares.

One of the factors that led Dick to choose 4Life™ was the type of leadership that is at the helm. Dick is highly impressed with the heartfelt passion that drives David and Bianca Lisonbee in their mission to help others. "I feel totally comfortable in introducing prospects to the 4Life™ opportunity. With the combination of Professional Networkers and 4Life™, I know that I can trust that my new partners will have the very best care and chance for success," Dick earnestly shares.

Recently, Dick received an award for his success in supporting the members in his downline. Rebecca Childs, a manager at Professional Networkers, shares how she has received a number of compliments from marketers in Dick's downline, praising him for the heartfelt support they have received. Mike Akins, Dick's mentor, refers to Dick as one of the most talented and warm-hearted leaders in his organization. Coming from Mike, who, since January of 1999, has added more than 10,000 members to his 4Life™ organization (several who are earning substantial five-figure incomes), this is quite a compliment for Dick.

Dick is now searching for a few serious networkers to expand his marketing foundation. "Along with the full-time staff at Professional Networkers, I believe that I can offer new distributors the best support and training in the industry. The timing couldn't be better. All of the necessary factors for success are found in this opportunity. 4Life™ provides toll-free hotlines and conference calls with credible M.D.s sharing product information. The minds behind the product formulations are some of the best in the world. We can expect one breakthrough product after another. The 32 full-time staff members at Professional Networkers offer a number of turn-key systems and personalized training. I've been around awhile, and you couldn't ask for anything more," says Dick.

You can contact Dick Helgeland by calling (888)857-2659 phone/fax, or visit his website at www.pro-networkers.com/76941.html.

